TACOMA SICKLE CELL PROGRAM

310 South "L" Street :: Area Code (206) 593-4895
TACOMA, WASHINGTON 98402

SPONSORED BY TACOMA-PIERCE COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT
AND CHARLES DREW SICKLE CELL EDUCATION AND DETECTION CLINICS

This public service announcement is about the class being held on abnormal hemoglobin. The class will be held at TCC this fall and is important to the community or public because of the misconception, misunderstanding and misinformation about sickle cell disease. Some of the misunderstandings about sickle cell are:

1) You must have some black blood to have sickle cell anemia or carry the trait,
2) Sickle cell is limited to blacks only and,
3) And that if you are found to have sickle cell anemia you will die at an early age.

This class is connected with the TPCSCP (Tacoma-Pierce Co. Sickle Cell Program) because sickle cell anemia is an abnormal hemoglobin.

Sickle Cell Anemia and other hemoglobin abnormalities will be the major topics presented in a course by Tacoma Community College and the Sickle Cell Program this fall. This course, H. R. 299 A, will deal with a basic science background, some genetics, hemoglobins, clinical analysis, treatment and control. The course will begin on Monday, September 24, at 9:00 a.m. Interested citizens may register for the course free of charge if they do not wish to earn college credit. If up to 5 college credits are desired, normal tuition will be charged.

Registration will be held at the Sickle Cell Clinic, 310 South L Street, Monday, September 17 to Friday, September 21, from 9:00 - 4:00. For Further information you may contact 593-4895.

It's comforting to know the government today is spending record sums to keep costs down.

Principals given raise

NEW YORK -- New York City's school principals are now the highest paid in the country under the terms of a new three-year contract.

Under the contract, accepted Tuesday by members of the Council of Supervisors and Administrators, principals' salaries will now range from $25,690 for a starting elementary school principal to $35,000 for a high school principal at the highest level.

Just for Laughs, I wish one of the Watergate Burglars had broken into the Playboy Club. I can see the headline now: "Republican Bugs Bunny".

In San Diego the Catholic Church announced that atheists aren't the only ones who don't believe in Padres.

Notice to Hunters

Cease Fire!!!

Pacific Northwest Bell is entering its annual plea to hunters for a cease fire on telephone cables, according to Eugene T. McGrath, PNB manager.

He pointed out that the opening of hunting season always brings an increase in the number of phone cables damaged by thoughtless hunters.

"Telephone service is more than a convenience. To a shut-in, it can be a crucial link to medical assistance.

"To someone whose house is being burglarized, it can be a quick summons for a policeman; and to someone critically hurt in an accident, it can be the difference between life and death.

"When government circuits are involved, the matter becomes a federal offense and the Federal Bureau of Investigation steps in," McGrath emphasized.

UPS Has New Administrative Assistant

Kathleen Paige, a B.A. graduate of Tougaloo College, Miss., who received her master's degree in educational administration from the University of Puget Sound, has been appointed to the newly created position of administrative assistant to the president and counselor for minority students at UPS.

A teacher for three years with the Tacoma School District, Mrs. Paige instructed students at Truman and Jason Lee Junior High Schools.

According to President Philip M. Phibbs, her duties will include academic and activity counseling for minority students, liaison work with the Ethnic Studies Center on campus and a variety of research and administrative tasks for the president's office.

Food For Thought

By G. M. Batie

MEAT:

EASY BEEF STEW (OVEN)
6 servings

2 lbs beef stew meat in 1 ½ inch cubes
1 medium onion, peeled and sliced
1 stalk celery, cut on the diagonal
6 carrots in chunks

2 tsp salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons tapioca for thickening
½ cup tomato juice

Place meat in a 7 X 11 inch pan. Add vegetables. Blend salt, sugar, and tapioca. Sprinkle over meat and vegetables. Add tomato juice. Cover pan with foil, sealing tight around the edges. Bake at 250° for 4 hours.

There are seasoning mixtures for every kind of meat. Try them for variety now & then, even if you're just a salt & pepper cook. Onions & garlic and their many jarred and bottled forms are helpful in seasoning meats. Wine, especially red wine, may be used to baste meat or season to gravy.

AS SCARCE as truth is, the supply seems greater than the demand.

ADLAI STEVENSON

YOUNG GIRL CAPTURES RAPIST
While waiting for a bus, a young attractive girl was grabbed from behind and dragged into an alley. As her assailant tried to rip her dress off, she fired one burst at his face. Instantly he let her go and staggered around blindly, coughing and gasping. He later confessed to raping over a dozen women in the area. This girl and possibly others were saved from a vicious sexual attack.

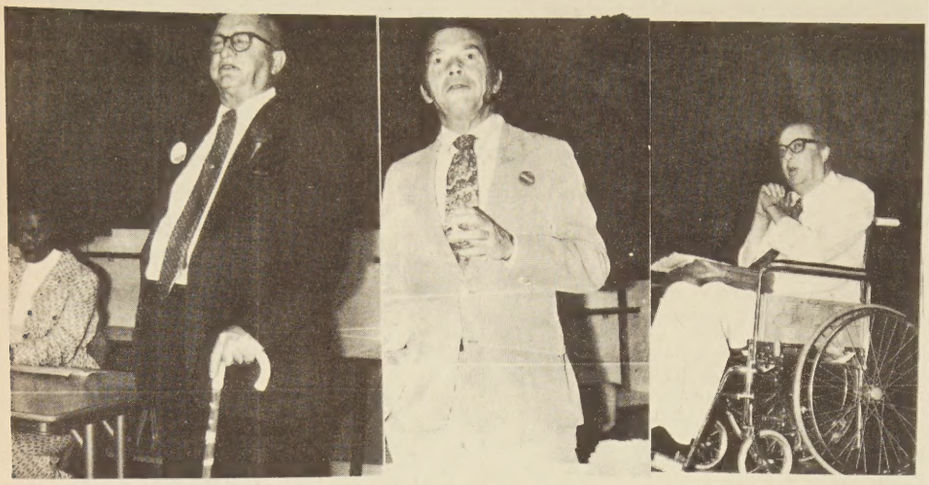
Candidates Speak Out at Task Force



This year's City Council primary election has been labeled as a quiet race, but the candidates were fired up at the Model Cities Task Force on Monday as they made statements and answered questions.

This is what they had to say:

MAYOR

Gordon N. Johnston: Successful Model Cities programs should be picked up by revenue sharing. Most of the programs have been effective. The Model Neighborhood structure of task forces and boards should not be abandoned. We are one of the few cities without a department of economic growth. We now have a man to look at our light industry needs. We need to bring the government closer to the people. Tacoma was named as one of the best two cities for citizen participation in revenue sharing structure.

George M. Nalley: Economic Development is a job the mayor should be doing all along. We need a revised tax structure; taxes are driving the small businessman out. If I were mayor, we would have affirmative action. Model Cities has been wasteful. I said it wouldn't work in the beginning. The Nixon staff found 13 reasons why it hasn't worked.

Albert Pardur: I want everyone to have a fair shake. I am not a politician. I am concerned about people. I promise we won't have any secret meetings if I am elected.

COUNCIL POSITION 1

Dick Sonntag: Most of you are familiar with my voting record, and I stand on it. I want to explain why Mr. Hudson was not appointed. Since he was not available immediately, we did not want to appoint anyone so close to the primary. I have helped many Model Cities projects get through the City bureaucracy. I support the change to district representation.

Tom Wells: Not present.

COUNCIL POSITION 2

Catherine Egan: This city does have economic growth. Tacoma is not going down hill. It is not true that only the top 40 revenue sharing programs will be funded. Special revenue sharing will allow us to fund some of the other proposals. I am not in favor of ward politics. I urge you to vote against the City Charter change.

Marvin Kaye: I am a consumer advocate. I think a city council office requires the person to meet his people and attend extra meetings like this. I am in favor of Model Cities programs.

Hardwock Smith: Not present.

Tony Petrarca: I'm just an average guy like the rest of you. I think the transit tax is unfair, especially for senior citizens. I want to take the bingo tax money and create a fund for seniors, youth, and parks and recreation.

COUNCIL POSITION 3

Leah Newton Golden: I have experience with the State Legislature. I support tax and spending reform. We need to eliminate duplicate services.

Jim Reed: We need a tax break. I want to reduce the household tax. I am against district politics. I want to think of the whole of Tacoma. We should supply transit service to the county on a conditional basis as needed. I support the change in the City Charter allowing prisoners to be hired.

William Russell: Not present.

Jack Warnick: I believe in Tacoma. We can create the community we want. I have served on several commissions. I made the first attempt to revise the housing code in 1960. I have also served on the Human Relations Commission.

COUNCIL POSITION 4

Rosa Lee G. Franklin: Health is one of my major concerns, especially for people who don't have access to proper health care. I am concerned about senior citizens. The City is a sounding board for these problems. We need cooperation between the private and public sectors to solve them. We also need improved transportation systems.

Jerome W. Matheson: Not present.

Ron Hale: I try to look at other people's points of view. This does not mean I agree with them. I have strong Democratic party affiliations. I am the youngest candidate at 20 years old. We need to have advocates on other levels of government.

Ruth Kors: I have served on the Human Relations Commission. I have been at every City Council meeting where Model Cities projects have been discussed. I was a volunteer driver for emergency vehicles and I have seen the problems of the disadvantaged. I was at the park board meeting when the improvements for Malcolm X Center were considered.

Nels B. Nelson: I brought the first civil action suit in the State of Washington. I served on the Civil Service Board. People programs are top priority. I support Affirmative Action.

John W. Schuur, Jr.: Not present.

Michael J. Stella: Not present.

COUNCIL POSITION 5

Edward G. Hudson: Because of the great number of absentee landlords in the Hilltop, you need to study the landlord management bill. The law needs to be tested by people like you who will make repairs to your places and deduct the cost from your rent. We need to revise transit routes and systems. I have learned a lot about changes in the system by talking to bus drivers. We need to make transit profitable.

Al Javorski: I have hired parolees in my business and want to help prisoners. I want to help all people. If you need a hand, I'm ready to help.

J. Dan Howell: Not present.

Hal Nielsen: I don't think Tacoma is as bad off as a lot of people say. We have to be flexible in government to solve problems. I have served as vice president of the Civil Service Board.

American GI Forum South of the Border Fiesta

The Tacoma chapter of the American G.I. Forum is presenting their second annual South of the Border fiesta on Sunday September 16. The fund raising event will be held from noon to 6 pm at the Yankee Doodle Post #5 located at 1313 South J. The festivities will feature an authentic Mexican dinner, Mexican music and entertainment. There will be prizes for the best costumed "charro and charra" that attend and door prizes too. It's going to be fun and the public is invited.

I don't care how many races he wins, Secretariat can't be that great... Bobby Riggs hasn't challenged him yet.

CONSIDERING the fact that there are two sides to every question, it's amazing that so many people choose the wrong side.

Candidates File for Sept. 27 Election

(MODEL CITIES)

Four candidates had filed for the Model Cities Executive Board on Tuesday with one more day left to file.

Election of six new Executive Board members will be held on September 27, from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Two polling places will be set up for the election, one at McCarver Elementary School and the other in the second floor lobby of the County-City Building.

Voting is open to all Advisory Association members. To join the association, call the citizens participation office of Model Cities at 593-4660. Registration of association members will close September 25.

Advocates from Model Cities will be canvassing the Model Neighborhood during the next week and a half, registering people for the association.

After the regular Executive Board meeting on Sept. 27, the Advisory Association will hold its annual meeting. The winners of the election will be announced at the meeting to be held in the City Council Chambers of the County-City Building.

Of the six positions to be filled, four positions are open for Model Neighborhood residents and two for non-residents. Four appointed positions to the 25-member board will be open this month and must be appointed by the Mayor.

Absentee ballots for the election will be available by calling the Model Cities office 593-4660. Absentee ballot requests must be received by Sept. 25.

Family Clinic Opens

Tacoma's Family Clinic, which closed last April due to financial difficulties, has reopened for limited operation under new management, Thomas Dixon, Family Clinic co-chairman announced today.

The Family Clinic board has merged with the Tacoma Ambulatory Care Center, its parent organization, and has hired Aaron Miller, an Emergency Hospital Technician at St. Joseph's Hospital, as acting administrator, said Dixon.

Funding for re-opening the clinic is being provided by the Metropolitan Development Council, Model Cities, the United Way and the Urban League, said Dixon, who is Executive Secretary for the Tacoma Urban League.

"Although funding is not yet permanent, we must begin reestablishing this necessary service to low-income residents who do not have regular physician care," Thompson said.

The long-term Family Clinic plan, which is being prepared for submission to H.E.W., will call for the involvement of area hospitals, the local Pierce County/Tacoma Board of Health, area health maintenance organizations and the citizenry in supporting the Family Clinic or an alternative.

New officers for the refurbished Family Clinic Board, in addition to co-chairmen Dixon and Thompson, are Orpha Lucas, treasurer, and Donna Bjugan, secretary.

Soap Box a bust

BOULDER, COLO. -- A spokesman for the Boulder County district attorney's office says the car that won the 1972 Soap Box Derby cost between $10,000 and $20,000 to build.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Wise said he would not disclose his sources yet. He said part of the cost included shipping the car to the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena to run wind tunnel tests on it.

Another factor in the cost, Wise said, was the time technicians spent advising the builder. The car was built at the Lange Ski Boot Co. in Boulder.

The 1972 Derby was won by Robert Lange Jr., 15. His cousin, James Gronen, 14, won the 1973 Derby crown but was later diqualified for having an electromagnetic system in his racer.

Registration underway for adult education

Registration is now open for the fall quarter of Tacoma School District's adult education classes.

The adult education program provides all the courses necessary for adults (over 16 years old) to obtain a high school diploma. Additionally, courses to allow continuation in regular high school classes are offered plus foreign language courses including Japanese, conversational Russian and Chinese.

The program also provides a series of courses in "adult basic education" which provide basic skills in reading, mathematics, and preparing students to take the General Equivalency Degree (GED) test or to prepare for citizenship examinations. The citizenship classes include the teaching of the English language as a foreign or second language.

Registration for the classes may be completed at the district's adult education office in the Central Administration Building, S. 8th St. and Tacoma Ave. or at Lincoln High School, Monday and Thursday evenings. Preregistration will continue through September 17.

The cost is $7 per 20-session unit. Further information and courses catalogues can be obtained from the district's adult education office.

Ronald Lawrence is a third year history major at Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Ron receives his tuition, books, fees and a subsistence of $100 a month because he is a midshipman in the NROTC.

"I've been in the NROTC program since it started here at Southern and I like it very much. I can take a variety of courses that are not available to the other students. It really broadens my learning experience."

Ron is referring to the Naval Science courses that he is taking as part of the NROTC curriculum. Each summer, he and the other midshipmen go on a six week training cruise. This tour enables each student to put what he has learned from books to practical use at sea.

"I guess it's the challenge of it all that I like the most. I would like to get into Naval aviation later on. I'll see how things go. But whatever area I go into, I already have a good job after I graduate—with good pay and a big future in business later. What else could I ask for?"

Ron Lawrence and hundreds of other college students have a big future ahead of them because they chose the NROTC. As an Ensign, he will earn $722.88 per month or $755.58 when married.

Dear Tac-Vac

by: Ted Jefferson

Dear TAC VAC:

Q--Are veterans who are serving time in prison eligible for GI Bill education benefits?

A--Yes, unless the veteran is taking an education program conducted by the penal institution as part of its regular program for rehabilitation of inmates at no cost to him, or he is voluntarily taking such a course. Otherwise, an eligible veteran may take approved correspondence study, other educational programs and apprenticeship programs which have been approved by the state approving agency and which meet the Labor Department standards. VA will pay the authorized benefits for the particular type of training.

Q--I am a Vietnam veteran and going to college under the GI Bill. My 36 months of education entitlement will expire two months before I receive my degree next May. Will VA discontinue my allowance checks at that time?

A--No. You will continue to get VA monthly allowance until the end of the school term in which your entitlement expires. In all other schools, where entitlement runs out after more than half of the course has been completed entitlement will be extended to the end of the course or for 12 weeks, whichever is less.

Q--My uncle, a World War II veteran, is hospitalized in a private hospital due to a nonservice-connected disability. If he should die, will VA pay transportation costs to the place of burial?

A--No. VA is permitted to bear those expenses only when death occurs in a VA hospital or domiciliary, or while hospitalized at VA expense.

Address all questions concerning veterans to: Tacoma Veterans Action Center 1321½ South "K" Street, Tacoma, Washington 98405 TE: 383-4008

Soviet job vacant

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The administration offered the job of Ambassador to the Soveit Union to businessmen David Rockefeller and Armand Hammer, but both of them turned it down, it was learned Sunday.

The ambassadorship to Moscow has been vacant for eight months since the retirement of Jacob Bean. Soveit officials have let it be known that they would like a prominent American businessman to have the job and help boost U.S.-Russian trade.

Hammer, Chief Executive Officer of the Occidental International Corp., said Sunday through a spokesman that he could not accept such a post because of obligations to his company and its stockholders.

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, was reported by informed sources also to have turned down the job.

Being a Chauffeur to Children

BY Lucille Debose, Pierce County Extension Agent

One of the lesser joys of being a parent is driving a car full of children. To kindergarten--to school--to a game--to a movie--it's amazing how many places children have to go--in your car. Maybe it's just taking the kids along while you go shopping. At any rate, driving a load of kids anywhere is hard on your nerves, hard on the car, and it can be dangerous if you don't set up some basic car rules and stick to them.

Don't overload your car. True, small children don't take up much physical space, but that's a poor reason for squeezing everybody in one car. It's just not safe. You need room to drive; you need to be able to see front and back; you need to be able to devote full attention to your driving. A good rule is never to take more children than you have seat belts.

That brings up another point. Make sure those seat belts are fastened before you start the car, and stay fastened. If you have a toddler, make sure they're secured in a sturdy car seat.

Lock the doors and keep them locked. One of the first rules children you're driving need to learn is don't play around with the doors.

Don't allow noisy horseplay. It cuts into your driving attention; you'll be more apt to have an accident. Of course, this is easier said than done. Children and noise go together. But, when the noise level starts to climb and the horseplay gets boisterous, pull over, stop the car and take care of the situation. You cannot drive safely and discipline at the same time.

Don't leave small children alone in the car. The mischief they can get into within seconds is unbelievable. For instance, it doesn't take much for a curious child to release a hand brake, or start the car.

Driving a car load of kids may never be a joy, but it should be safe.

World's Most Beautiful Black Woman

Is Zeudi Araya the most beautiful black woman in the world? "Yes!" say the editors of Players magazine who have selected her as cover girl for the premier issue scheduled to make its debut on the stands October 9th.

"We expect a lot of controversy," says editor Wanda Coleman. "Almost everybody has a selection of their own and we might develop this into an international contest."

Zeudi Araya is a 21 year old beauty who won the Miss Ethopia title in 1969. Her reward, a trip to Italy, led to a single movie role that made her a superstar overnight. The film was, THE GIRL WITH THE MOONLIGHT SKIN. Zeudi is now the hottest property in Italy. Her new film, THE BLACK WIFE, is soon to be released. She is being considered for a role in the epic production of Kyle Onstott's MANDINGO, with Peter O'Toole.

PLU Artist Series presents international stars

Alvin Alley American Dance Theatre

The worlds of international dance, music and stage entertainment blend in an outstanding series of feature programs planned for the 1973-74 Pacific Lutheran University Artist Series.

Featured are the internationally acclaimed Krasnayarsk Dance Company of Siberia Nov. 2; concert artists Carol Neblett, soprano, and Douglas Lawrence, baritone, Jan. 20, 1974; entertainer Vincent Price March 17; and contemporary conposer Krzysztof Penderecki May 10-11.

Carol Neblett, still in her early '20's, has already collected a sheaf of enthusiastic notices from both American and European critics.

Lawrence emerged as a star talent this past year at the 34th Bach Festival at Carmel, Calif. He holds a master's degree in music from the University of Southern California and has given more than 200 performances on network television.

The Krasnayarsk Dance Company, 66 dancers and 14 musicians, is making its U.S. debut this fall.

The Artist Series will also sponsor a master class on campus presented by the Alvin Ailey Dance Company this Oct. 22, and will co-sponsor a performance by that company in the Seattle Opera House Oct. 23.

Artist Series season tickets may be obtained through the PLU University Center ticket office. Season tickets are $10; individual programs are $3 per person.

GREAT SCOT!

"Scottish" Spoken Here

The term "scot free" has nothing to do with Scotland or the Scottish people, according to the Teacher's Scotch Information Centre.

In Shakespeare's day and before, a "scot" (or "sceot," as it was originally spelled) was a municipal tax, one paid to a sheriff. The present-day meaning of "without payment of a just penalty" can be traced to the "scot free" persons of Elizabethan England who managed successfully to dodge paying their taxes.

The Scotsman, though he has a well earned reputation for canniness and frugality, has equally well earned his reputation for facing up to his just obligations. Thus he is in no way libeled by the phrase "scot free."

There are at least two other apparently "Scotch" terms in English. . . "hopscotch" and "Scotch verdict." The following facts should help you to scotch any rumors about them.

Hopscotch is an old English children's game. The player hops from one division to another of a diagram marked—or scotched—upon the ground, kicking a stone, or tile, with the foot on which he hops.

And a "Scotch verdict" is one "not proven." Although in English and American law a jury in a criminal case is required to bring in a verdict of "guilty" or "not guilty," Scottish statutes allow this third choice.

That's the law . . . and the lore.
